Raleigh Social News

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]
Raleigh, N. C., April 22.—Two fashionable weddings were special features in the social life of Raleigh the past week. The Dix-Dortch nuptials Wednesday evening, and the Mott-Tropier wedding on Tuesday evening, both in Christ Episcopal Church, and both attended by throngs of the society people of the city, and many visitors.

Miss Janet Dortch, daughter of the late Colonel Isaac Dortch and granddaughter of the late W. T. Dortch, member of the Confederate Congress, was the bride, and George Everston Dix, of Chicago, nephew of General Carl A. Woodruff, United States Army, retired, this city, was the bridegroom, for the Dix-Dortch wedding. Magnificent Easter lilies and palms were used with splendid effect for the decorations. Miss Ellen Dortch was maid of honor and John Woodruff Dix, of Pittsburg, was best man. The groomsmen were George P. Ely, of New York; W. P. Dortch, of New York; John C. Meale, of Pittsburg; Dr. Hubert Haywood, of Raleigh. The bride was given away by her brother, Gavin Trogg Dortch. Right Rev. Robert Strange, bishop of the Diocese of Eastern Carolina, was the officiating minister. There was a wedding supper and reception, following the marriage, at the home of the bride's aunt, Miss Sallie Hogg. Mr. and Mrs. Dix have gone for a trip North, before taking up their residence in Chicago.

Tuesday afternoon Mrs. Gavin H. Dortch entertained delightfully the bridal party of the Dix-Dortch marriage. It was a delightful affair, limited to the bridal party and a few intimate friends and relatives.

On Friday evening Miss Jennie Proctor entertained in honor of Miss Eugenia Moore, of Texas, and Miss Katherine Chandler, of Savannah, Ga. These young women are students at the Woman's College, Lynchburg, Va., and are spending the Easter holidays with Miss Marshall Cole, in Raleigh.

An interesting meeting of the Fort-nightly Review Club was held with Dr. Dixon Carroll Tuesday afternoon. Quite a number of interesting papers were read.

Raleigh's Junior German Club, gave its Easter dance in the ballroom of the Ramey Library Tuesday evening. There were twenty-five couples dancing. The German was led by George Hall, with Miss Gretchen Clement, of Lynchburg, Va., visiting young woman, were Miss Gretchen Clement, of Lynchburg, Va.; Miss Gowan, of Alabama, and Miss Irlie Pou, of Smithfield.

Tuesday afternoon W. S. Wilson entertained the Olla Podrida Club. On-thony Trollope was the subject for the meeting. Mrs. W. N. Jones read an interesting paper that fully treated of his works and character as compared with Thackeray and Jane Austen. After the club business came up for consideration. Holland was chosen for the subject of study for the coming year.

A beautiful Easter wedding took place at Christ Episcopal Church Tuesday evening when Miss Elizabeth Graham Trapier and Floyd Stephen Mott were united in marriage. Easter lilies and quantities of candles, with the white and gold altar hangings made a most beautiful decoration. While the church was filling with friends Miss Eble Roberts rendered a beautiful musical program. Just in advance of the bridal party twelve young women friends of the bride entered and occupied the front seats. Then came the ushers, Felix Crutchfield, of Winston-Salem, Sam Ashe, Jr., of Raleigh. They were followed by little Miss Windham Ashe, niece of the bride, as bridesmaid. The maid of honor was Miss Jennie Trapier, sister of the bride. The bride entered with Captain J. J.

Mackay, who gave her away. The groom was attended by his best man, J. Billings, of New York. The officiating priest was Rev. Percy Eubanks, assistant rector of Christ Church. Mr. and Mrs. Mott will be at home in Raleigh after May 1.

Durham Social News

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]
Durham, N. C., April 22.—One of the most delightful affairs of the week was the afternoon reception at which Mrs. Victor S. Bryant was hostess on Tuesday. The reception suite of the handsome home was beautifully decorated with a wealth of Southern ammix, used in artistic profusion on mantels and cabinets, and garlands of the glossy green were twined about the huge columns in the hall. A pretty touch of color was added to the lovely effect by clusters of fragrant spring blossoms in tall vases and antique bowls of silver and crystal. Arranged throughout the rooms were quantities of a beautiful background for the exquisite gowns worn by the women in the receiving party. Assisting Mrs. Bryant in receiving the hundreds of women who called during the afternoon were Mrs. Leo D. Hearitt, of Raleigh; Mrs. H. E. C. Bryant, of Washington City; Mrs. Felix Harvey, of Kingston; Mrs. Joe Graham, of this city. The cards were received by little Misses Matilda Bryant, Margaret Louise Carr, Bettie Bryant and Mary Lewis Carr, wearing dainty white lingerie dresses. Others aiding the gracious hostess were Mrs. George Lyon, Mrs. John P. Wily, Mrs. J. E. Slagge, Mrs. Eugene Morehead, Mrs. John Sprunt Hill, Mrs. Julian S. Carr, Jr., Mrs. I. P. Hill, Mrs. E. C. Murray, Miss Elizabeth Gibson, of Concord, and Misses Jean Venable, Louise Carr and Evelyn Jones.

The annual Easter dance on Tuesday evening was one of the most delightful ever given in the city and was attended by a large number of visitors.

The dancing was led by Sneed Sassor, of this city, and Miss Libby Adamson, of Roanoke, Va.

Mrs. A. G. Carr entertained on Wednesday afternoon at a beautiful party in honor of the Roundabout Club. The pretty home was ablaze with fragrant blossoms. In the living-room, where the tables were arranged for the game, great branches of dogwood were used with beautiful effect about the room. At the conclusion of the game a delicious luncheon of several courses was served at the small tables. Enjoying Mrs. Carr's gracious hospitality were Mrs. P. W. Vaughan, Mrs. Annie Long, Mrs. J. B. Cobb, Mrs. T. M. Gorman, Mrs. C. B. Green, Mrs. Geo. Lyon, Mrs. E. J. Parrish, Mrs. J. E. Stagg, Mrs. A. H. Stokes, Mrs. C. W. Toms, Mrs. E. L. Tyree, Mrs. George W. Watts and Mrs. E. C. Curran.

Mrs. T. M. Gorman was hostess of the Round Dozen Bridge Club at her home on Main Street, Thursday afternoon. The house was bright and attractive with handsome foliage plants, Easter lilies and cut-flowers. After an interesting game, an ice course was served at the card tables. The guests included Mrs. W. G. Braham, Mrs. B. U. Brooks, Mrs. A. Cheatham, Mrs. Paul Gilbert, Mrs. J. W. Pierce, Mrs. Harris King, Mrs. L.

S. Skinner, Mrs. Sumter Brawley, Mrs. W. M. Yerby, Misses Willie Smith, Evelyn Jones and Anna Brannon.

The Roundabout Club met with Mrs. C. W. Toms on Friday afternoon, and was one of the largest and most thoroughly interesting meetings of the season. The tables were arranged throughout the reception-rooms, which were a veritable garden of lovely flowers, fragrant roses and Easter lilies prevailing with great clusters of spray carnations in tall crystal vases adorning tables and cabinets.

One of the most brilliant events of the week was the spring music festival of the Durham Association, which presented S. Damrosch Symphony Orchestra and soloists at the Academy of Music Wednesday evening. A large and appreciative audience was in attendance, large crowds coming from the neighboring towns and villages. There were a number of box parties, and altogether it was one of the most brilliant social events of the season.
